

Conference on

New Challenges to Monetary Policy

University of Mannheim, Germany, September 2-3, 2022

Call for Papers

The conference covers a broad range of themes related to the conduct of monetary policy. It will bring together recent contributions in this area of research, including studies with a strong theoretical basis and empirical papers. A non-exclusive list of examples of relevant topics includes:

- The role of climate change for monetary policy
- Monetary policy response to supply-side disturbances and structural change
- Monetary and fiscal interactions: monetary policy with high public debt levels
- The role of firm, product and consumer heterogeneity for monetary policy
- The role of expectations and communication in monetary policy
- Digital assets and the unit of account role of money

Ludwig Straub (Harvard University) and Michael Weber (University of Chicago) are confirmed invited speakers, and we welcome further relevant submissions.

The conference is organised by

Klaus Adam (University of Mannheim, EABCN and CEPR),
Eleonora Granziera (Norges Bank and EABCN)
Henning Weber (Deutsche Bundesbank)

The deadline for submissions is 5 pm GMT on Thursday, March 31, 2022. Please indicate in your submission whether you would also be willing to present in a poster session and if you will be able to cover your own travel and accommodation costs, or whether you will require funding. Authors of successful submissions and accepted participants will be notified in April 2022.

The event is hosted by the University of Mannheim and sponsored by the EABCN and the Collaborative Research Centre TR 224 at the University of Mannheim. Funding is available for travel expenses for academic participants presenting or acting as discussants. Expenses will be reimbursed according to the standard CEPR travel guidelines. Costs will not be covered for central bank participants.
